

Diwali 14th November 2020

With happiness to all
And sorrow to none,
The festival of lights
Diwali has come.

The streets shine
With candles' light,
The festive lamps
To all delight.

Children are out
With crackers in hands,
The fireworks sound
like musical bands.

Elders exchange
Gifts and sweets,
With love each one
To other greets.

Triumph of good
Over evil it shows,
Diwali, the festival
Everyone knows.

Diya Mobile

This simple Diya mobile will look pretty hung in the entrance or window during the Diwali Festival of Lights. Use bright colours and different textures so that your mobile really catches the light!

You will need:

Yellow textured paper
Textured paper in a bright colour
Gold cord
Gold glitter glue

Instructions:

Cut out a flame from yellow paper and a diya shape from your other paper.

Make a hole at the bottom of the flame and another in the middle of the diya. Tie them together with the gold cord.

Make a hole at the top of the flame and tie on some gold cord to hang.

With glitter glue or a gold pen, write happy on the flame and Diwali on the diya. Hang to catch the breeze and the light.

Have fun!
